Dear alumni and friends,

What a year this is shaping up to be! alumni UBC travellers have been sighted cruising the Amazon River with UBC Zoology professor Darren Irwin, visiting villages along the Ganges River with UBC PhD Adrienne Fast, and walking ancient Inca trails in Peru with former Chair of the UBC Alumni Association Judy Rogers. As I’m writing this, another group of intrepid travellers is travelling across Siberia by rail from UlaanBaatr, Mongolia to Moscow with UBC Russia expert, Professor Anne Gorsuch.

Later this year a group will be enjoying fine wine and cuisine in Portugal with Okanagan winemaker Howard Soon, another will be examining the anthropology of the American southwest with archaeologist Judy van Roggen, and yet another hiking the trails of Patagonia with Forestry professor Lori Daniels.

Many of our tours are filling quickly, so I urge you to take a good look at the 2019 tours featured in this catalogue to be sure you don’t miss out on some outstanding travel opportunities with our exceptional UBC study leaders. By land or by sea, whether your interest is in botany, wildlife, astronomy, music, or exploring some of the most remote and spectacular places on our planet, you’re sure to find a travel experience that’s right for you.

Please join us in 2019 for exceptional travels with alumni UBC. Tuum est.

Big Skies of Hawaii

AN ASTRONOMY AND NATURAL WONDERS TOUR TO THE BIG ISLAND, FEBRUARY 18 – 25, 2019

Hawaii is an astronomer’s dream. Easily accessible peaks plus clean air mean an ideal location for stargazing. Join top UBC astrophysicist Jaymie Matthews for a very special visit to the Big Island. Enjoy special access visits to leading observatories and observe the night skies with professional telescopes. Hike the slopes of Hualalai, travel to the summit of Mauna Kea, watch for basking sea turtles, and explore Hawaii Volcano National Park with an expert guide. Stay in two of the diverse environments on the Big Island; a seaside resort in Kona and a historic Hawaii Inn in the community of Volcano. A not-to-be-missed journey of discovery!

TOUR LEADER

Officer of the Order of Canada, UBC Professor Jaymie Matthews is the MOST Mission Scientist, a leader of the Canadian-Austrian-Polish BRITE Constellation satellite project, and on the Executive Council of NASA’s Kepler planet-hunting satellite.

EXPEDITION CRUISE

Epic Northwest Passage
WEST GREENLAND TO CAMBRIDGE BAY, NUNAVUT, AUGUST 18 – 31, 2019

Explore the best of the Arctic on this remarkable expedition cruise: sail from the stark, icy landscapes and colourful fishing villages of West Greenland; cross the Davis Strait to the stunning fjords of Baffin Island; and voyage into the remote Northwest Passage. Follow in the footsteps of the early Arctic explorers such as Franklin, Amundsen, and Larsen, penetrating the archipelago of islands and channels that create Canada’s High Arctic region. Look out for the legendary polar bear, bowhead whale, and walrus. Hike the tundra surrounded by fascinating geology and glacial history.

TOUR LEADER

Lee Groat has been a faculty member at the University of British Columbia since 1989. His main research interests are the geology of gem deposits, pegmatites, the crystal chemistry of minerals, and economic geology. Many of his projects have entailed fieldwork in northern Canada.

ACTIVE ADVENTURES

PATAGONIA
A NATURAL WONDERLAND AT THE END OF THE WORLD, NOV. 18 - 30, 2018

Beat the early winter blahs with an active trip to “the uttermost part of the earth.” Patagonia has retained the mystique of the frontier; it is home to great icefields and soaring snow-capped peaks headlined by the Torres del Paine National Park and the Perito Moreno glacier. The landscapes that you will discover as you enjoy your choice of moderate to challenging walks and treks are awe-inspiring. As you walk from our bases in Argentinian and Chilean Patagonia, you will see spiky peaks veiled in clouds, endless steppes where solitary guanacos keep watch from hilltops, electric-blue lakes, and the two great icefields, remnants of the last ice age, which spill out of the Andes as impressive glaciers.

STUDY LEADER

Lori Daniels is a professor in UBC’s forestry department with an expertise in forest ecology. In addition to a long-term research program in the forests of coastal British Columbia, she collaborates with colleagues in Argentina, conducting research on forest decline in the southern Andes.

WILDFLOWERS OF WESTERN AUSTRALIA
SEPTEMBER 5 - 18, 2019

Travel through all the diverse vegetation zones of the Southwest Botanical Province to see the most intriguing plants and landscapes at the height of the spring bloom. The flora here is a marvel of the botanical world. It is one of the most diverse places on the planet thanks to a long and varied evolutionary history with 4000 different plants, 80% of which are found nowhere else on Earth. Within that incredible diversity are astoundingly unusual and beautiful species such as grass trees, kangaroo paws, Banksia, Grevillea, trigger plants, carnivorous sundews that grow as vines, poison peas, cycads, tree ferns, towering Eucalyptus, and hundreds of species of terrestrial orchids including spider orchids, donkey orchids, and sun orchids.

STUDY LEADER

UBC alumnus Gary Lewis is the owner of Phoenix Perennials, an award-winning, cutting edge, retail and mail order nursery in Vancouver, and an expert on perennials and horticulture. He holds two degrees from UBC in Conservation Biology and Plant Ecology.

BLISSFUL BHUTAN & ARUNACHAL PRADESH

HIMALAYAN KINGDOMS AND THE COLOURFUL BOORI BOOT FESTIVAL, JAN. 28 – FEB. 10, 2019

Join us for a very special trip to two remote and exciting places high in the Himalayas. Start in Bhutan and marvel at the stunningly beautiful landscape dotted with exquisite fortresses and temples. Learn about Bhutanese arts, gain insight into the culture and ancient traditions, and take that exhilarating hike to the iconic Tiger’s Nest Monastery. Then travel to an area of India that has been closed to outsiders for the past century. The ‘Land of the Dawn-lit Mountains’ is predominantly tribal; traditions of language, dress, housing, and religion are intact. We have insider access to the communities and Boori Boot Festival. The roads are atrocious; the accommodation is simple; and the experience is extraordinary.

GROUP SIZE: Limited to 16 participants

STUDY LEADER

UBC alumnus Stephen Inglis, PhD’84 has been a researcher, curator, and then Director-General of Research and Collections at the Canadian Museum of Civilization. His contributions to museums and Indian studies have been honoured by the Canadian Museums Association and the Government of India.

MONGOLIA

EPIC LANDSCAPES AND NOMADS OF TODAY, JUNE 3 – 15, 2019

Travel to a wildly beautiful land, rich in ancient culture, a place where there are more horses than people and where a nomadic lifestyle still remains. Explore sites of natural wonder, observe remnants of ancient and contemporary cultural practices, and take in stunning views of the Gobi Desert and beyond. See free roaming herds everywhere and with a bit of luck, one will pass by your ger (yurt accommodation) as you lie awake to see a starry sky through the gap in the roof. Amid all these impressions, Julian will guide you in understanding contemporary Mongolia, what nomadism means today, how the country has been democratizing since 1990, and how an economy is developing rapidly through the exploitation of minerals.

TOUR COST (PP): US$5195 Includes US$200 taxes & gratuities and internal flights.

GROUP SIZE: Limited to 20 participants

STUDY LEADER

UBC professor Julian Dierkes is a prolific commentator on contemporary Mongolia and was recently (2013) awarded a Governor General’s Medallion for his contributions to Canadian-Mongolian bilateral relations. He has travelled more than 20 times to Mongolia including family trips for long stays with herders.
RIVER & COASTAL CRUISES

BAJA CALIFORNIA & THE SEA OF CORTEZ
AN EXPEDITION CRUISE, MAR. 24 – APR. 2, 2019

Cruise down the coast of Baja and into the Sea of Cortez aboard our exclusively chartered vessel and appreciate this unique combination with sea and land excursions. Our visit coincides with the congregations of Gray Whales as they gather to calve. We’ll encounter them closely along with a number of other whale species. Watch for seabirds such as Blue-footed Booby and albatrosses by the coast and at sea, look for desert birds and other wildlife among imposing cacti, snorkel with gorgeous fish, observe huge schools of dolphin, and perhaps see the Whale Shark, the world’s largest fish. We’ll enjoy presentations that provide insight into Baja’s wildlife and ecosystems and may also enjoy fine night sky viewing that only such a place can provide.

STUDY LEADER
Dr. Andrew Trites is the Director of the Marine Mammal Research Unit at the University of British Columbia and oversees a research program that involves captive and field studies of seals, sea lions, whales, and dolphins. His research spans the fields of ecology, nutrition, physiology, and animal behaviour.

SOUTH AFRICA
LANDSCAPES AND WILDLIFE, NOVEMBER, 2019

Meet in stunning Cape Town, a particularly exciting city crowned by spectacular Table Mountain. Move to the jagged, green sweep of the Drakensberg's tabletop peaks. This is some of the country's most awe-inspiring landscapes, a vast area of basalt peaks and sheer escarpments where we will hike and explore. A stay in southern Kruger offers intimate and thrilling wildlife encounters by jeep with our expert safari guides. In northern Kruger experience the African bush on foot on walking trails in the Makuleke Concession, one of Southern Africa’s few remaining areas of true wilderness. Accommodations include a wine estate, scenic lodges, and a tented camp.

TOUR LEADER
UBC alumnus Timothy Jackson, B.Ed’99, divides his time between Nelson B.C. and South Africa where he guides special interest safari groups. A background in agriculture and education with formal field and trails guide training in South Africa have prepared Timothy to share his passion for lifelong learning.
